WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.—
"No illiteracy in Kentucky after 1920." This is the slogan which appears in newspapers, on gateposts, telegraph poles and in barber shops throughout the Bluegrass state. You can't escape it. For you are not in Kentucky five minutes before some proud citizen slides up to you and says:

"Some campaign we're waging down here, eh? Ever hear about our moonlight schools?"

Everybody inspired
In Kentucky everybody is a self-appointed publicist and apostle of learning—the whole state is inspired. And no wonder; for not only has their slogan reverberated throughout Kentucky, but it has been heard in seventeen other states as well, all of which have established moonlight schools.

It all came about through a woman—a rather small, dark-eyed Kentucky woman, with the pluck and clear vision of a pioneer. Her name is Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, and she started the "no illiteracy" campaign while superintendent of public schools in Rowan county.

In Kentucky, as in a great many other states, a considerable per cent of the adult population in the rural communities is illiterate. For example, one night Mrs. Stewart attended a rural school entertainment where in the course of the program a young man with a very good tenor voice sang a pleasing ballad which was his own improvisation. After the show was over, Mrs. Stewart shook hands with the young man and congratulated him. "I should like to have a copy of your song," she said. "If you will write it down for me." The young man blushed, then smiled grimly. "I can neither read nor write," he said. "Often I think of songs, but forget them while waiting for someone to come along and write them down."

Thousands illiterate
Mrs. Stewart was appalled. Here was a man with decided talent, who was capable of giving something to the world, handicapped because he was hopelessly illiterate. Then came the inspiration. Was it, after all, hopeless? Was there not some way in which these adults—old, middle-aged and young—could be taught to read and write? Mrs. Stewart estimated that there were 1,152 such illiterates in her county alone.

A meeting of public school teachers was called, and Mrs. Stewart laid the situation before them. She told them about one old woman who bought a speller and sat up until midnight studying so that she could learn to read letters received from her daughter who was away at school.
She told of a big, stalwart farmer whose eyes had filled with tears as he said, "I would give twenty years of my life if I could read." She told them about the young man and his songs which were irretrievably lost because he could not write them down. The teachers, hearing these things, were also inspired and the upshot of the matter was the establishment of the moonlight school.

All Ages Come
This simply meant that the public day schools were kept open during the bright moonlight nights of the Kentucky autumn by volunteer teachers, who called on the various illiterates of their communities and induced them to attend. At the be-

SUPERIOR DRY IS BIG EVENT IN WET
AND DRY CAMPAIGN

Wisconsin Cities See-saw
With Probably Some General Gains For the Drys

DRYS GAIN IN TWO STATES

Make Small Headway in Illinois and Do Big Business in Nebraska
Through Bryan

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 5.—
Forty-five Wisconsin cities have voted to abolish the saloons, according to returns early today and in thirty-eight the wets have been victorious. The biggest blow given the liquor forces was the vote of Superior, with 163 saloons to go dry.

The following cities went from wet
to dry:
Superior, Augusta, Fairchild, Black River Falls, Brockway, New Richmond, Boyceville, Bayfield, Wausonma, Turtle Lake, Boscobel, Marshall.
The remainder of the cities which voted on the liquor question remained unchanged.

Drys Gain in Illinois
CHICAGO, April 5.—Local option figures received thus far show that 350 to 400 saloons were eliminated while wet victories re-established 250 saloons.

The drys won Waukegan and Moline, and held Elgin. The wets won back Bloomington and Carlinville and held Aurora, Lincoln and Alton, and picked up twenty scattering towns over the state, now dry.

Bryan Drys Them Up
LINCOLN, Neb., April 5.—The drys carried practically every Nebraska town in which William Jennings Bryan aided in the anti-saloon campaign. Bryan made many speeches during the campaign.

Returns today indicated twelve cities changed from wet to dry and only three from dry to wet. The drys won in North Platte, Fairbury, Superior, Beatrice, McCook, Wahoo,
Sutton and other smaller towns.

ALLIED SQUADRON
DESTROYS FORTS
IN SMYRNA HARBOR

ATHENS, April 5.—An Anglo-
French squadron has destroyed forts Saint Zaki and Saint Georges at the entrance to Smyrna harbor, the newspaper Nea Helles reported today.

ONALASKA IN DRY
COLUMN BIGGEST
LOSS TO THE WETS

Chaseburg went wet, 125 to 92.
Genoa stays wet, 109 to 52.
Black River Falls stays dry, 177 to 265.
Galesville stays dry, 159 to 110.
Kendall stays dry, 83 to 64.
Norwalk stays wet, 74 to 65.
Sparta stays dry by 75.
Trempealeau stays wet, 76 to 66.
Viroqua stays dry, 120 to 307.
West Salem stays wet, 124 to 113.
Bangor stays wet, 148 to 71.
Onalaska city goes dry, 85 to 110.
Catawag goes dry.
Farmington stays dry, 72 to 159.

In the "wet" and "dry" elections in this district yesterday, the worst loss was suffered by the liquor interests when the city of Onalaska voted out its saloons.

This was due, it is claimed therefore, by the interest manifested by the younger element that got into the fight for a cleanup.

The liquor people also lost Catawag, situated in the township of Little Falls, north of Sparta, according to reports reaching La Crosse.

The "drys" lost Chaseburg by a vote of 125 to 92. The saloons there were voted out a year ago but were re-licensed by the voters yesterday.

With the exception of Chaseburg the drys held every town in the district where they had ousted the saloons one, two and three years ago.

THREE MEN CLOSE
IN JUDICIAL RACE
RESULT IN DOUBT

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 5.—
Judge Eschweiler took the lead in the race for justice of the supreme court this afternoon when it was found that he received 19,000 votes in Milwaukee county.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 5.—
With three candidates still in the running, the race for justice of the supreme court tightened this afternoon as additional returns were received. The vote was so close that it was anyone's race.

Judge Belden of Racine, Judge
Fowler of Fond du Lac and Judge Eschweiler of Milwaukee were running so close.

As returns from various parts of the state were slowly coming in, one would take the lead and then the other.

Early in the day Judge Eschweiler was running strong, but the Racine and Fond du Lac candidates soon cut down his lead.

Walter D. Corrigan and Judge William Turner, both of Milwaukee, were eliminated in the early returns.

The Searchlight
AN ELEVATOR FOR FISH
The Canadian fish commission has devised a novel arrangement to help migratory fish over water falls which hinder their progress upstream to desirable spawning places. It is an elevator which lifts them over the falls. One of these devices is now in operation on the St. Croix river in New Brunswick. A vertical structure a little below the falls extends several feet above the water. Guides or wings radiate from both sides so that the fish are led into a cage at the bottom of the shaft. Thus they are trapped and carried automatically to the top of the shaft where they are dumped into a sluice which discharges them into the water above the falls. The hoisting is done by means of a counter-weight tank periodically filled with water from a reservoir at the top of the tower.

"A SCRAP OF PAPER"

With cotton and silk climbing the high-cost-of-living sky-scraper, one ruminates upon the natty costumes that might be made of the Sunday papers.

Really, they WOULD be fetching, those browns and purples and lavenders with the solid black-and-white effects—if only one could afford it.

For, dear reader, paper leads the procession of ascending prices. So pronounced is the jump that currency is now above par and the government is seriously considering increasing the alloy of silk in our banknotes. With the low levels past Mr. Bryan has lost a grand opportunity to propose the free coinage of greenbacks at the ratio of sixteen to one, while international bi-currencyism is now an economic impossibility. We've about reached the stage where one must wrap the Sunday supplement in the family jewels, and the intrinsic value of paper money will tend to the hoarding of that modicum which international exchange does not take out of the country. With the country flooded with cheap gold the government may be compelled to relieve the financial situation by publishing emergency currency on platinum. Never, never again will an angry monarch refer contemptuously to "a scrap of paper".

Seriously, the advance in paper has created a problem. All over the country publishers are cutting down the number of pages, and the cost of production both of newspapers and periodicals has become burdensome, with the future still darker.

The difficulty is said to be lack of raw material, and to afford some relief the government has urged the people of the United States to save their old papers. Their value, in the aggregate, is surprising. The La Crosse post-office handles something like forty tons per week, and the tonnage of the express companies make it fully that amount. The price of old papers has jumped within the month, from five dollars per ton with no takers to nine dollars in an eager market. Magazines command a much higher price. In other words, in the neighborhood of $18,000 worth of old paper may go to waste in La Crosse this year. To go beyond our local problem, the waste in the United States, figured on a population basis, may be about $16,000,000.

For some time a Sunday school has been financed by the sale of old papers, gathered once a week from house to house. The women's society of another church now contemplates entering the business as a source of profit. We believe the children of every family should be encouraged to save the old papers and magazines as a business enterprise. They can make neat little sums and at the same time contribute to the relief of a perplexing situation.

IF TRUE IT IS A SERIOUS MATTER

The charge that through some navy department channel a foreign country was made acquainted with the specifications for the United States fourteen-inch guns, is a serious accusation. Secretary Daniel's promise to investigate should be put into immediate effect. Nothing could be more pusillanimous than to make such a statement without foundation, while if the story is true the treasonable act can not be extenuated even upon the ground of idiocy. Europe seems to be familiar with the American secret wireless code, our fortifications are infested with spies of several nationalities, and if to top this off an official in the navy department has made afternoon tea chatter of our ordnance secrets it is high time for a few hangings.

WE CAN'T ACCEPT THEIR VIEW

In committee yesterday Senators Cummins and Works, says a dispatch, took the position that while Mr. Brandeis may have had the makings of an ideal judge, his availability is destroyed by the fiasco in which futile efforts were made by the Wall street crowd to blacken his reputation.

We can not agree with this. If Mr. Brandeis was fit for the job at the outset of this despicable assault, he is still fit. Were the senate to reject Brandeis upon the present showing the precedent thereby established would enable the interests now engaged in attacking him to dictate the personnel of the supreme court in a manner to make it always subserve class interests—none but corporation lawyers need apply. We doubt if there is a justice now on the supreme bench against whom there could not be made a case as convincing as that framed up for the humiliation of Mr. Brandeis. More, in the interest of equilibrium of the classes we believe the supreme court needs Louis D. Brandeis.

Carranza just wanted to have it understood that the constitution doesn't follow the flag.

THE TRIBUNE'S DAILY TRAVELETTE
(By Nilsah)

THE ALDABRA ISLANDS
Lost in the trackless turquoise desert of the Indian ocean, the Aldabra island bask in a tropic sun. These little slips of land are inhabited by one of the riddles of the universe. Endless speculation has wasted itself on the few inhabitants of the Aldabras, but the said inhabitants go their way placid and undisturbed.
For the Aldabra Islands are one of the only two places on this terrestrial globe where the gigantic tortoise is found. Here in the Indian ocean is a stray lost group of coral rocks. Half a world away, washed by the surges of the Pacific, almost equally lost and forlorn, is another group of islands—the Galapagos. The Galapagos are the other home of the great tortoise, but how he disappeared from the rest of creation, and how he came to pick out these two widely separated dots on the face of the waters for his final retreats—there lies a field for the spinning of theories.

The tortoises of the Aldabras will wait patiently while you try to settle the question, even though you take a couple of centuries to do it. They are said to live to an advanced old age. According to the tales of sailors, one Noah, a well-known mariner of the ancient world, made a landing on the Aldabras and found the present tortoises already on the job. The same authority has it that the gallant captain chiselled certain data anent an unprecident rainfall and the need of many repairs to the Ark on the back of one of the tortoises, but this story lacks adequate confirmation.

Certainly the tortoises look old enough to have experienced almost anything. They are huge beasts, survivors of another and unlovelier geologic epoch, four feet across the widest part of their armor-plate shells. They are built a good deal like the common turtle, but their backs arch in a much higher circle, so a four-foot tortoise is a good deal larger than a four-foot turtle would be.

In the long years of their sovereignty in the Aldabras the tortoises have beaten out firm paths across the islands, that they still follow with undeviating dignity. It is understood that they pay nominal allegiance to Great Britain, nowadays, but Great Britain has wisely never tried to change any of their personal habits. Otherwise there would certainly be a revolt. When you are five hundred years old you do not take kindly to novelties.

Victrola
The instrument of the world's greatest artists

It is natural that in the musical world there should be singers and instrumentalists whose transcendent art places them in the forefront of their profession.

These artists have attained their commanding positions by reason of their superb artistry, and it is no mere coincidence that they have chosen the Victrola as the instrument to carry their sublime art into the home with the utmost fidelity.

The Victrola is the greatest of all musical instruments not only because it brings you the exact renditions of the world's famous artists, but because it has through sheer merit and through world-wide recognition by millions of music-lovers earned this high honor the artists have conferred upon it.

Any Victor dealer will gladly show you the complete line of Victors and Victrolas—$10 to $400—and play the music you know and like best, which is the only way for you to personally judge its capabilities of satisfying your musical longings.

SAYS RAISERS LOST WHILE PACKERS GOT RICH ON CATTLE

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Fifty-three out of fifty-six Iowa stock farmers lost money last year while Swift was making profits of $14,000,000; Armour $1,000,000; Morris $1,000,000, and Cudahy, $723,000, according to Judge W. H. Wallace, before the house judiciary committee Tuesday.

"These farmers take their cattle to the market and go back empty handed," Wallace said. "Their farms are just as devastated as though they had been in the line of march in Poland or Belgium. The only thing the farmer has got was his free ride on a railroad caboose and the railroad gave him that. What is making this disparity between the man who toils for his living and these men of wealth?"

"It is this diabolical combine known as the Beef Trust."

As a rule, Japanese plays last from 6 o'clock in the morning until 9 at night.

VERSE and REVERSE

The Congressman
In former years the congressman Cared for his country's needs By sending out to common folk Some fancy garden seeds. He loafed about in Washington And had a bully time. But now, the way they're treating him Is nothing but a crime.

No longer does he pose and strut And talk in language grand. The good old days have passed away; He's working, understand That teacher from New Jersey has Him walking chalk for fair. And when the whistle blows each day The statesman must be there.

Vacations have gone out of style. He's busy with his books. The time has passed when congressmen Could get by on their looks. The period is almost here. We're very much afraid. When congressmen will have to earn At least half what they're paid.

HOLLAND AGENTS ARRIVE TO BUY STOCK OF SUPPLIES

NEW YORK, April 5.—Agents of the government of Holland arrived in New York yesterday to establish an agency here for the purchase of supplies which, before the war, were obtained in Europe. The agency's expenditures will approximate $10,000,000, it was stated. The agency will be continued permanently, one of the men announced.

SOCIETY

AN ECHO FROM PALM BEACH

Benjamin J. Rosenthal's first inquiry upon being met at the train by C. S. Van Aukken Monday evening, was for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Felber, and his disappointment over their absence from the city was apparent.

Mr. Rosenthal is the Chicago business man who appeared before the board of trade in behalf of the Alexander ship building mill, winning not only his point, but a home in the hearts of the members.

The friendship between the Felber and Rosenthal families is an echo from the golf links at Palm Beach. Mr. Rosenthal's daughter is an expert of many cups. Both she and Mrs. Felber worked their way into the Palm Beach finals; Miss Rosenthal won the deciding match from Mrs. Felber on the twenty-second hole, the latter taking the runner-up cup.

That is the story as well as one remembers it from an informal chat. Anyway, the Rosenthals are coming back to La Crosse when Mr. and Mrs. Felber are at home.

"LIMIT" CLUB

Miss Nuna Larson entertained the members of "The Limit" club at her home Monday evening. The evening was pleasantly spent with needlework and refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Kate Weisheugel, Marie Wittenberg, Lucile Nejbuhr, Leone Kiekbusch, Henrietta Fisher, Grace Wallace, Viola Wallace, Verna Bowen, Lillian Junco, Dora Briebach, Helen Hilton and Anna Larson.

MISSION STUDY CLASS

Mrs. Joseph E. Smith entertained the members of the Mission Study Class of the English Lutheran church last evening at her home, 733 Ferry street. The lesson, the subject of which was "Corea", was in charge of Mrs. Henry Lupie. The class will not meet next week on account of the Missionary society which is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon.

Announcements

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Bessie Osborne, 409 West Avenue South, and not Friday as was announced yesterday.

The official board of the West Avenue Methodist church will hold its regular meeting at the church tonight at the close of the prayer meeting.

A unique social will be held on Friday afternoon at the parlors of the West Avenue Methodist church, the affair being called a "missionary sock social". Invitations have been sent out and admission will be "by sock", in which is deposited pennies to the number of twice the size of sock worn by the bearer. The proceeds will be added to the foreign missionary offering of the church.

The Misses Edna and Irene Jungen and Anna Larson will entertain the members of the Young People's society of the English Lutheran church, at the parlors Thursday evening.

The Junior Epworth league of the West Avenue Methodist church will hold a social and business meeting at the church Friday evening from seven to nine.

The Woman's union of the Tabernacle Baptist church will meet at the home of Mrs. Frederick C. Schauland, 812 Avon street, Thursday afternoon.

The ladies of the German Lutheran church corner of West and Cameron avenues, will give a coffee at the church parlors tomorrow afternoon and all the members of the congregation are cordially urged to come and bring their friends. The entertaining ladies are the Mesdames Reohrl, Engles, Foeschler and Tanke.

YOUNG PEOPLE GIVE MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT

The Young People's society of the North Presbyterian church last night played to a capacity house at the first presentation of their musical play, "Our Minister's Honeymoon," at Central Hall, corner of Caledonia and Clinton streets. The seating arrangements of the hall were taxed to their utmost, while many of the spectators were forced to stand.

The action of the play takes place in the church, the stage being set to represent the reception room upon the occasion of the marriage of the minister, and deals with the troubles of the couple to keep their destination a secret, they being forced to three times change their plans to the chagrin of many of the flock who

Governor-General Of Canada At New York Flower Show Today

International Flower Show Attracts Patrons and Exhibits From All Over the World

NEW YORK, April 5.—The Duke and Duchess of Connaught and their daughter, Princess Patricia, (Princess Pat) are to attend the opening of the International Flower Show at Grand Central Palace here today, as patrons of the Canadian Red Cross Tea Garden, a feature of the big show.

New York society is much interested in the coming of the Canadian nobles, who will remain here several days before going west on an extended visit to several mid-western and western cities of the United States.

Today's entertainment for the governor general of Canada, the duchess and Princess Pat, whose regiment in the Canadian expeditionary force in Europe has so distinguished itself, is under the direction of Miss Margaret Cameron, official representative of the Canadian Red Cross in the United States.

Canada is taking an important part in the flower show and also has a delegation of fifty charming Canadian hospital lassies serving in the tea garden, which is one of the prettiest and most elaborate features of the show.

A committee of Canadians will assist Miss Cameron, who is a sister of Mrs. Belmont Tiffany. Mrs. Tiffany and Mrs. William Kinneutt Draper are assuming active management of the tea garden. The Canadian committee will include Mrs. William Dodson, Mrs. Dr. Charles H. Peck and Miss Hay.

The big International Flower show in the Palace from April 5 to 12, inclusive, will be the greatest show this country or probably the world has ever known.

American florists will show many new creations, and there is a constantly increasing interest among amateurs. The Far East will make contributions, while Australia and South Africa and different South American countries will be among the exhibitors.

Insurgency at Mothers' Congress

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 5.—The National Congress of Mothers, which had a brilliant opening here yesterday, has developed an interesting contest over the election of officers. An insurgency movement against Mrs. Frederic Schoff, the president of the national organization, has gained some headway. Many of the delegates are instructed to vote for the nomination of Mrs. Orville T. Bright of Chicago for the office. Mrs. Schoff has headed the congress for fourteen years. She is a Philadelphia woman, and it is said the movement against her began in her own state. It was charged that Mrs. Schoff had presented to the Pennsylvania legislature a bill allowing a ten-hour working day and vacation employment without age limit for children, and called this bill "the Pennsylvania Congress of Mothers' bill," although, it is said, the Pennsylvania state board had never heard of the measure and repudiated it afterwards.

The insurgents have framed drastic amendments to the constitution of the Mothers' congress, to provide for a larger executive council, rotation in office and a change in the rule which now requires all national elections to be held in Washington.

The sessions of the congress are being held in the state capitol. The congress will be in session each day until Sunday. The delegates will be taken on a trip to the Hermitage, the home of Andrew Jackson.

BURLINGTON FEARS FOR MADE GROUND ON DOUBLE TRACKING

Fear that miles of the made ballast on the Burlington road south of here will be taken out by the continued high water is expressed by local officials of the road. The ground, most of which was dredged from the river for the purpose of double tracking, has not had time to "set", although it is ripped up with rock for long distances.

Should the water continue at its present stage, it was said today, work trains may be dispatched to the scene of danger. Close watch is being kept of the line.

The north side is practically an island. Water from the marshes has backed up to within a few feet of the street car tracks at Rose and Monitor streets and has extended close to Goose Green, east of the Burlington passenger tracks. Water has come in east of the Milwaukee tracks from the east side of the La Crosse river. The tracks of the Milwaukee in the west yards and along the "Y" are, in some places, barely three feet above the level of the water. Black river on the north and west has converted every slough into a lake.

AGED RESIDENT A PARALYSIS VICTIM

S. B. Spence, aged 79 years, suffered a stroke of paralysis late Monday afternoon at his home, 1622 Berlin street. He is resting well today.

JEWELER KILLS BURGLAR

CHICAGO, April 5.—An unidentified burglar was shot dead here Tuesday by John Kawura, jeweler, who discovered the intruder rifling a showcase. Kawura, hiding behind a partition, showed a muzzle of a rifle through a peephole and fired, shooting the burglar through the temple.

Henry was still mounting the clouds when he alighted from the car and walked across toward the wide boulevard on which the big house of Tredeker was situated. The great lawn and spiked iron fence closed with ornate gates did not haunt him. He tore open the portals and strode up the path as though the place belonged to him. Not a quiver was caused in his breast by the imposing stone porte-cochere beneath which stood the rakish DeChaud roadster in which he was to have his first test. He rang the bell at the entrance and, heedless of the stare of surprise with which the man who answered the ring greeted him, demanded to see Miss Tredeker in so firm a manner that the servant choked back the order to depart and went doubtfully to apprise his mistress of the strange caller who was at the door. Henry sat down on the running-board of the car and waited, leaning on his elbows, with cap pushed back jauntily from his torn features.

Miss Tredeker came through the door and tripped down the steps lightly, not looking up until she reached the last of them. When she did raise her eyes, her hands went up with them and her mouth stayed open without uttering the cordial greeting which was on her lips.

"Mr. MacDonald! What on earth is the matter?" she cried instead.

"Nothing at all," said Henry, with elaborate casualness. "Fellow tried to rob my room and there was a slight unpleasantness! And he dropped his indifference abruptly at grinning with frank conceit and triumph. 'I rather knocked him around a little.'"

"But you look dreadfully!" "You ought to see the other fellow," boasted Henry. "He's about ready for the hospital! It was Verrens, Miss Tredeker, and he was after my plans. He didn't get them, though."

She questioned and he answered, and a somewhat incoherent and excited conversation ensued, at the end of which Alice was in possession of the entire story.

"But why did you let him go?" she cried. "You should have had him arrested!"

Henry grinned like a wolf. "I wouldn't have done that for a farm and I don't want to have you tell your father either," he insisted. "See here, Miss Tredeker, Verrens drives the Crescent in the Cosmopolitan and is supposed to be the best man on the team. Now, if I should have him arrested, or if you should tell your father, he would be discharged, I suppose. But I want him to drive in that race and it'll be like winning two races not only to beat the Crescent but beat Verrens driving it. Do you see?"

Miss Tredeker saw and smiled eagerly. "Oh, you've got to beat him!" she said. "If you don't, I'll never speak to you again."

"That's all right," said Henry confidently. "I won't lose your acquaintance, I can promise you, Miss Tredeker. Beat him! I'll make him burn up his car to keep in sight of me!"

"I believe you will," she answered with devout admiration. "And we'll get to work now and start the course of training that will make you able to do it. Come on!"

Henry drew from under his arm the roll of tracings, all marked with heel prints and stained with the dust of the floor on which they had been kicked about.

"Wait a moment before we start, Miss Tredeker," he said. "Here are the things that fellow was after. I'm afraid to leave them where burglars can get at them, for if they did get these and could build my engine from them, I'm just conceded enough to think that no car on earth could beat them in any race. Now, won't you take them and keep them safe for me until after the race? I can't work on them any more until then."

Alice took them gingerly, flushing a little. "And you will trust me with them?" she asked gratefully. "I'd almost be afraid to have a thing so valuable in my care."

"Trust you?" he repeated. "Why, of course I would. I'd trust you with lots more than that."

She smiled dazlingly upon him and what was left of his heart and head was surrendered to her without further hesitation. But she merely said that she would guard them with her life or words to that effect. Why she should blush and he should turn red during this simple exchange, is not apparent from the text, but so it was.

CHAPTER XI

At Grips With Fear

"Please take the wheel, Mr. MacDonald," said Alice, as they prepared to enter the car. Henry hung back. "I'd rather you would drive out until we get on a clear road," he said.

But Alice looked at him very severely. "Mr. MacDonald," she said. "I thought better of you than that."

"But," objected Henry shamefacedly. "I might injure your car in these streets."

"Mr. MacDonald!" she repeated inexorably, and Henry's soul melted within him. He climbed abjectly after her to the seat and, with any misgivings, grasped the wheel and eased in his lever.

"I don't see anything the matter with that," said Alice as the car started slowly. "At least you don't have to be told what things are for."

"What they are for!" ejaculated Henry. "Why, I suppose not. I could take this car apart and put it together in the dark, Miss Tredeker. Do you see that oil gauge, there on the dash? I invented that thing myself for this very car."

Grip Still Hanging On?

Back aches? Stomach sensitive? A little cough? No strength? Tire easily? All after effects of this dread malady. Yes, they are catarrhal. Grip is a catarrhal disease. You can never be well as long as catarrh remains in your system, weakening your whole body with stagnant blood and unhealthy secretions.

You Need PERUNA

It's the one tonic for the after effects of grip, because it is a catarrhal treatment of proved excellence. Take it to clear away all the effects of grip, to tone the digestion, clear up the inflamed membranes, regulate the bowels, and set you on the highway to complete recovery.

NO MORE BACKACHE NO MORE MISERY

Hundreds of people have been relieved of the agonies caused by weak, diseased or clogged-up kidneys by using Solvax, the new remedy that quickly reaches the source of all kidney complaints.

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides or have any signs of kidney or bladder trouble such as rheumatic pains, puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired and run-down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Solvax will quickly and surely relieve you of your misery.

Solvax is probably the most potent remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It neutralizes, dissolves and makes the kidneys lift out all the uric acid and poisons left by the blood, and renders the kidneys and urinary organs clean, vigorous and healthy.

Many of the best druggists say that no medicine ought to be paid for unless it does the user some good. Solvax therefore sells under a positive guarantee to quickly relieve the worst cases of kidney trouble or your money refunded. Try Solvax today and if you cannot see and feel a decided change for the better just go to the druggist from whom you bought it and tell him you want your money back and he will return it without question. This is the strongest argument that can be offered in behalf of any medicine. Solvax is sold in La Crosse and vicinity by all leading dealers.

WOULD MERGE MANY ELECTIONS TO SAVE EXPENSE TO CITY

Progressive League Says City Polling Could Take Place on Dates of State and Federal Elections

WANTS LOCAL LABOR RECOGNIZED

League Agitates Employing of La Crosse Help by Firms Unloading Coal for Railroads

A change in the dates of city and special elections to dates of state and national elections, to save expense to the city, is the plan of the North Side Progressive league, propounded at the monthly meeting of the league last night. Robert Lowry, P. W. Mahoney, George Krell and Ole Dahl were appointed a committee to confer with the proper city authorities.

That city elections might easily be merged with other elections is the opinion of the club. It is contended that on such occasions as the judicial and delegate polling yesterday city elections could be held, polling to take place on the same date in other years, even though there were not other elections. It is estimated that the city in every election saved in that way would save in expense more than $2,000.

Special elections, the league held, could be held over until a city election or state and national polling.

Home labor would profit immensely and the city would have a better class of citizens if the firms contracting for the unloading of coal at the sheds of the Milwaukee and Burlington roads would employ La Crosse men, the league went on record. Foreigners are now employed almost exclusively.

Following objection of Miss Borreson, librarian of the north side branch of the Washburn library, to the plan to house the library in the new addition to the Logan school, the league promises to investigate the matter. Miss Borreson claims the library will be forced to move in a very short time, it being understood the city will have the privilege of using the library room whenever conditions in the addition become crowded.

Co-operation with the La Crosse Woman's club was suggested, as members said, both organizations have many motives in common.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

Fay Tincher was "made" as a moving picture comedienne by her performance of Dulcinea, in the Triangle-Fine Arts production of "Don Quixote." As the slatternly slavey of the rustic tavern, elevated to a very pinnacle of romance by the devotion of the crazed knight, Miss Tincher gives a performance second only to that of DeWolf Hopper himself. She will shortly be seen again in Hopper's support in a forthcoming Triangle release entitled "Sunshine Dad."

Miss Tincher was born in Topeka, Kans., on a certain All Fool's Day. At an early age her parents took her to Chicago to live. There she attended the Ziegfeld Musical college. Her entry into stage life was with Henry W. Savage's "Sho-Gun." Her career was interrupted by a stay of several years in Europe, with her sisters. Returning to America, she shortly made her debut in the movies as Cleo, in "The Battle of the Sexes," produced by D. W. Griffith. Later followed other rolls in which her rare gifts of grotesqueness and facial contortion gave her a place of her own in the Griffith assemblage.

A Real Flesh Builder For Thin People

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Let the scales be the judge. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay-there" fat may be the net result. Sargol aims to charge weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—to give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food, to prepare it for the blood in an easily assimilated form. Thin people tell how they have gained all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol and say that the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilative elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and Hoeschler Bros. and all other good druggists in this vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package.

Again Below Par

If your health is below par, you need building up with HEMO, the food for "Above Par" Health. HEMO is a delicious Malted Food, containing all the elements of Malted Milk and more—the juice of beef and natural iron to aid in making rich, red blood. HEMO has great nutritive force.

Especially for nervous women, rickety children, over-worked business men, convalescents and the aged. A delicious food beverage for everyone.

Makes a delicious food drink by simply adding water.

MORE PLACES THAN APPLICANTS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 5.—The state employment headquarters here announced that it has more positions than applicants. Since November 5,000 persons have been placed and there are still 800 positions open.

Many a political orator who howls about the independent life of the farmer doesn't know an ox yoke from a horse collar.

STATE TEACHES OLD AND YOUNG THE THREE R'S

ginning there were many doubts as to the plan's success. The teachers thought they knew a thing or two about that invincible Kentucky pride. But from the beginning the moonlight school was popular. People came, and in great numbers. They came down the rugged mountain trails, women carrying their babies, and old men hobbling on canes. Soon 1,200 persons were enrolled in the moonlight schools, the youngest of whom was 18 and the oldest 86.

During the first few weeks of the experiment, the trees and fences and walls of the barns began to blossom out with singular decorations. In their enthusiasm over their newly acquired knowledge, the people were carving their names in large irregular letters on every available wooden surface. Many who had hoarded small sums of money under the kitchen hearth did some rapid excavating and opened bank accounts. It was so fascinating to be able to write your own name on a check!

Teach Useful Arts

Besides the three R's the moonlight schools taught agriculture, horticulture, road building and home economics. Magazines and newspapers began to make their appearance in the various households, and in Washington the department of agriculture was swamped with requests from Rowan county for farm bulletins. Special text-books were provided which would appeal especially to the moonlight pupils.

So the moonlight schools grew and flourished each succeeding season, and with them grew the ambition of the Rowan county school teachers. They were now determined to banish illiteracy from the entire county. There were still many persons who for various reasons refused to attend the schools, so it was decided to take the schools to them—figuratively, of course. The teachers canvassed the whole county, invading the hiding places of the most stubbornly elusive illiterates, and made a list of the names of these persons, together with all the information obtainable concerning their peculiarities and eccentricities. Thereafter, when an illiterate proved obdurate and insisted that he did not want to be educated, the teachers consulted the details of his history as appearing on the list in an endeavor to find some means of appealing to him.

Won by Sore Throat

A young man, who had been very successful in winning over the difficult illiterates of his district, one day appeared in the county superintendent's office, his face a picture of gloomy despair. "I might as well give up," he said bitterly. "There's one old woman in my district who simply won't be approached. I can't tell her anything." The superintendent consulted the list and found that the old woman believed herself to be a marvelous doctor, in which belief the neighbors were pleased to humor her. "Well, that's easy!" exclaimed the superintendent. "The next time you have a sore throat go to her for treatment." The young man did so, and the old woman was so flattered she was studying spelling within a month.

At least there were only twenty-three individuals in the county who did not know how to read and write, and these were largely defectives and invalids. With this record to their credit, you might think that the school teachers of Rowan would have been satisfied to rest on their laurels; but not so. If one county can be enlightened by these methods, thought Mrs. Stewart, why not the whole state of Kentucky? With Mrs. Stewart, to think is to act. She came to Frankfort and sought out Governor McCreary, who was greatly impressed by the results accomplished by the moonlight schools.

State Takes up Fight

Said the governor: "We will wipe illiteracy off the Kentucky map by 1920!" Whereupon the seat of war was moved from Rowan to Frankfort, and the legislature passed a bill establishing a commission "to wipe out illiteracy," with Mrs. Stewart at its head. Over a hundred stump speakers were engaged to carry the campaign into all the counties, 1,000 teachers volunteered, and county agents on salary were employed to take care of the more difficult mountainous districts. Moonlight schools were established in sixty-eight counties, with a total enrollment of a hundred thousand adult pupils.

It is only 1916 now, but already Kentucky is well on the way toward fulfilling her ambition; out of her 120 she has just a few illiterate counties left. Not only that, but seventeen other states have followed her example and have established moonlight schools. In North Carolina and Tennessee, the problem is practically the same as in Kentucky and the original program has been closely followed. But in the other states the majority of illiterates are found among other races. Thus in California the moonlight schools are being utilized to educate the rural immigrants; in New Mexico to teach the Mexicans; in Oklahoma the Indians, and in Alabama the negroes. Kentucky is watching the progress of all the moonlight schools of the country with a proud and proprietary smile.

'VENGEANCE IS MINE' HAS MANY THRILLS

The theme of capital punishment has been presented a number of times in pictures, but never in the usually gripping way shown in "Vengeance is Mine," a new five-reel Mutual Masterpicture.

Colorful as to plot, dramatic in the extreme, and consistent throughout, the author has given a new "twist" to an old theme, and from the very first scenes to the governor's wild ride to the penitentiary to prevent the electrocution of his brother who is about to die for a crime that he did not commit, and the wife's confession of the murder, committed in self-defense, the audience is held spellbound throughout.

"Vengeance is Mine" has enjoyed long runs at the eastern theaters, and comes to the Casino today and tomorrow.

CLEANLINESS OF A SOLDIER KEEPS DISEASE AWAY

BY H. D. JACOBS
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

FIELD HEADQUARTERS OF THE AMERICAN EXPEDITION, COLONIA DUBLAN, Mex., by motor train to Columbus, N. M., April 4.—Bathing and laundering his clothes at every opportunity the American soldier on the expedition has held the average of sickness down to less than three per cent, a new American record for foreign service.

Dysentery and pneumonia epidemics were quickly nipped after a half hundred cases developed.

Though traversing a region infested with disease, the American troops are quite as healthy as when they started and just as clean. The medical corps has taken every precaution to ward off infection, but the main reason for the expedition's good health is that Saturday night institution, the bath.

Members of the medical corps believe that even without their safeguards, the percentage of illness would be very low. When the column is not marching, sleeping or eating, the members may best be looked for in the nearest stream, scrubbing themselves with a special medicated soap.

GERMANY ALWAYS WILL RESPECT THE MONROE DOCTRINE

the devastation of Europe, theirs will be the guilt and we will have to stand it as men."

Her Internal Resources

The chancellor expressed the thanks of the nation to Germany's soldiers and their leaders and then turned to the question of internal economic conditions.

"I understood how our enemies in 1915 could not give up the hope of starving Germany into submission," he said, "but I don't understand how cool heads, after the experience of 1915, can cling to it."

"What would it mean, if, for instance, the consumption of meat would temporarily be lowered to the level of the seventies?"

"I should think that our adversaries would remember how strong was the German race of those days."

Crop Promise Good

The chancellor admitted that conditions of life are not easy in Germany at present, but he said these difficulties are borne in admirable fashion by all classes, particularly the poorer classes. Reports on the coming crop, he said, allay any fears that the food stuffs will not be sufficient.

In carrying out her program to "starve Germany out" England, the chancellor said, "makes war upon the women and children and with her allies violates the trade of neutrals."

"The American note of November 5, 1915, gave an exact description of English violations of international law," he added, "but far as I know it has not been answered up to this day."

Defends Sub-Sea War

The chancellor then launched into a discussion of Germany's war policies as they affect neutrals. Without directly mentioning the United States and the present submarine controversy, he said:

"No serene minded neutral, no matter whether he favors us or not, can doubt our right to defend ourselves against this war of starvation, which is contrary to international law. Nobody can ask us that we allow the arms of defense to be wrested from our hands. We use them and we must use them."

"We respect the legitimate rights of neutral trade and commerce, but we can expect that this respect is appreciated and that our right and our duty is recognized to use all means against this policy of starvation, which is a leering insult not only to all laws of nations but also to the plainest duty of humanity."

Turning to a discussion of the Belgian and Polish questions, while the Reichstag listened with rapt attention, the chancellor declared that after the war, there must be a new Belgium and that Poland must be freed forever from the hand of a "reactionary Russia."

The chancellor said that even members of the Russian duma admitted that the notorious Tschinowik should never return to rule Poland.

WATER LAPPING AT DOORS IN "GOOSE GREEN" DISTRICT

Thousands of dollars of property damage impends in "Goose Green," at the lower end of North La Crosse, if the river rise continues. The yards of half a dozen houses in the locality are already submerged by water backed up from the La Crosse and Mississippi rivers, and the rise of a foot predicted by the weather bureau today will bring the water to the floors of these dwellings. More than a score of other houses in the vicinity will become or less seriously damaged by the water.

The river stood at 11.7 at noon today and was still rising slowly. It will go up at least a foot more, the weather bureau predicted, probably reaching the crest of the rise tomorrow night. There is no sign of a fall above La Crosse so far, the bureau said, although rains on the headwaters have ceased.

The river is now clear over the lower road along the front of Riverside park, and in the center there is six feet of water above the asphalt. The water is only three feet from the top of the seawall that protects the park. Pettibone park is almost completely submerged under from one to three feet of water. Root River bottoms and the flat south of the city behind the Gund brewery are completely covered.

DESETERS DROWN

WINNIPEG, Man., April 5.—Three of four United States citizens, who deserted Canadian ranks at Fort Frances, drowned yesterday while attempting to cross Rainy river into the states. All had voluntarily enlisted.

VILLISTAS BEATEN FOR SECOND TIME AMERICANS UNHURT

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 5.—Army headquarters today laid plans for a broader scale of operations in the hunt for Pancho Villa. Failure to locate the bandit in the region now being combed for him will require absolutely new plans, it was stated.

EL PASO, Texas, April 5.—Additional information regarding the Villistas was given out this afternoon by Carranza Consul Garcia on the basis of advices from General Gutierrez, indicating that the bandit troops are occupying a number of small towns. More Carranza troops have been requested by Gutierrez to take the field against the bandits.

Carranzista troops have had a number of skirmishes with various bands. At Cieneguita, General Cavazas was reported to have killed ten Villistas in a fight.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 5.—Villistas were engaged and defeated Saturday by the Tenth cavalry, colored, commanded by Col. W. C. Brown at Bachinaba, thirty miles northeast of Guerrero, General Pershing reported late yesterday. Thirty bandits were killed but not an American was wounded. The fight was the second with Villa bandits. Villa, it is thought, was not with the troop. General Funston admitted that Villa has escaped to the south, declaring the bandit chief probably is headed for the Parral district with "very few" American troops in pursuit. Explaining this statement, Funston asserted it is impossible to send a considerable body of soldiers farther south because of the necessity of protecting the lines of communication. The present available force has been drained to meet this requirement.

EL PASO, Texas, April 5.

That Villa is so badly wounded he is unable to ride a horse, was the positive statement of General Luis Gutierrez, commander-in-chief in Chihuahua City made public today by Carranza Consul Garcia. Gutierrez said confirmation of Villa's injuries was received from men who saw the bandit leader. A Carranza soldier taken prisoner by Villa and later released also declared Villa was wounded at Guerrero and has since been carried about in a wagon.

Hope of an early successful ending of the great man hunt apparently has been abandoned at army headquarters. Funston frankly admitted that a continuation of the chase southward must be backed up by a stronger force than at present is available.

Believe Pershing Farther South

Commenting on Col. W. C. Brown's defeat of a Villista force thirty miles north of Guerrero, April 1, Funston pointed out that the troops under General Pershing available for pursuit are undoubtedly now far south of the scene of the second engagement, which resulted in the killing of thirty Villistas.

There were no casualties among the 200 Negro troopers in Col. Brown's Tenth cavalry command. Knowledge of the fight is limited to reports brought to General Pershing by Mexican ranchers. No detailed official report has yet been made.

General Funston believes the bandits, who burned two bridges north of Monclova yesterday, are Villistas, but is not certain. There have been no reports to headquarters of disaffections among Carranzistas except a circumstantial account of Col. Cano's alleged pro-Villa sympathies.

To Arrest Alleged Plotters

EL PASO, Texas, April 5.—Twenty or thirty additional arrests were expected today in the alleged plot of Villa, Diaz and Orozco followers to capture Juarez from the Carranza garrison.

Mayor Prieto of Juarez stated that the execution of the plotters probably would take place despite Garcia's protests. Dissension among the Mexican officials was denied.

Carranza Consul Garcia stated that three of the fifty men arrested in Juarez have confessed that the plotters intended to capture Juarez Sunday while the garrison attended a band concert in the Plaza without their weapons.

Clear Districts of Bandits

COLUMBUS, N. M., April 5.—In desperate headlong forced marches, American cavalry are clearing Villistas from the district from Namiqipa to Guerrero and even farther south.

General Pershing himself has broken away from advanced headquarters and gone into the thick of the pursuit of Villa. Pershing was at Guerrero yesterday.

Success Report Causes Satisfaction

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The report that Colonel Brown's colored Tenth cavalry scouts had routed a Villa band, killing thirty, caused satisfaction here, but it served to confirm the belief that Villa himself has eluded his pursuers and broken his command into small bands.

It was learned today that General Carranza is desirous that the protocol being considered by himself and the state department shall provide against future expeditions into Mexico on as large a scale as the present pursuit of Villa. His suggestion, it is understood, is the one thing delaying agreement.

CHIVALROUS YELLOWSTONE FOLLOWS UP EXPLOITS IN OBSERVATION CAR

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 5.—“Yellowstone” is the name applied today to the new bandit terror of the Rocky mountain region. His holding up five men in the observation car of the westbound “de luxe” overland limited on the Union Pacific near here last night for $553, a gold watch and chain, followed his recent similar train robbery on the same line near Rock Springs, Wyo. In each case the presence of mind of a trainman prevented the bandit going through all the coaches.

WOMAN A PHYSICAL WRECK

Tells in Following Letter How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Milwaukee, Wis.—“Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a physical wreck. I had been going to a doctor for several years but he did me no good. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I decided to give it a fair trial, and it gave me relief from bearing down pains which had been so bad that I would have to lie down. I also used the Sanative Wash and it has done me a great deal of good, and I am not troubled with a weakness any more.”—Mrs. P. L. BRILL, 1299 Booth Street., Milwaukee, Wis.

The most successful remedy for woman's ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has stood the test for forty years, which would be impossible if it did not have genuine merit. Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

SOUTH DAKOTA AUCTIONS LAND

PIERRE, S. D., April 5.—South Dakota is auctioning this week and next week some 100,000 acres of state lands. The prices range from $12.50 to $100 an acre. Payments are one-fourth in cash, another fourth in five years, the third payment in ten years and the final payment at the end of fifteen years. The lands are in fourteen counties.

A man's strength is estimated by his ability to fight against odds.

PENITENTIARY CURE FOR TRUST BARONS SAYS WESTERNER

WASHINGTON, April 5.—“Put the trust magnates in the penitentiary and you won't have any more trust.”

This was the remedy against the trust evil recommended by W. H. Wallace, of Kansas City, to the house judiciary committee today on the hearing of the Borland resolution for an investigation of the alleged beef trust.

“These trusts won't face the penitentiary,” Wallace said. “What do they care for fines? A fine is nothing to them. But you pass a law making it a penitentiary offense for a violation of the anti-trust laws and you will have no more trusts.”

DUDLEY IS HEAD OF GUERNSEY MEN

S. L. Dudley of West Salem succeeds Adolph Nuttleman as president of the County Guernsey Breeders' association, as the result of the annual meeting of the organization held Saturday in West Salem. T. H. Campion, principal of the Onalaska Agricultural school, was chosen secretary to succeed Ray Lewis. Other officers elected were: L. C. McClintock, W. J. Dawson, H. M. Bousack, K. O. Gaarer, W. Labus, vice presidents; H. M. Bousack, treasurer; W. D. Sandman, Otto Wolf, H. D. Lovejoy, executive committee.

It was decided to hold a summer meeting and picnic. The following were appointed as a committee to make the necessary arrangements for such a meeting: H. J. Aldrich, H. D. Lovejoy, W. D. Sandman. The advisability of holding a fall sale was discussed and it was voted to leave the question open until the summer meeting.

At a meeting of the executive board after the regular meeting it was decided to work out an advertising plan for further developing the breeding of Guernseys in the county.

FARMERS DESCEND ON BORDEN PLANT CUT MILK SUPPLY

ELGIN, Ill., April 5.—Six hundred farmers from Huntley, Union, Marengo and Dundee descended upon Elgin at daylight this morning and completely shut off the supply of milk being received at the Borden Condensed Milk plant in this city. It was one of the master strokes of the war the milk producers are waging against the big buyers in an attempt to force a price of $1.55 per hundred pounds for milk in this city. Superintendent E. S. Eno of the Elgin Borden plant wired the sheriff for assistance and late today it was rumored that Governor Dunne had been asked to call out the state militia to clear the roads for the farmers who want to sell their milk to the buyers.

With the blockading of Elgin every important city and town in northern Illinois had been closed up by the milk producers, and they now threaten to shut off Dixon and Sterling tomorrow.

DECLARES GUARDS POLITICAL STRINGS

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Because the state national guards engage in such “political outrages” as the suspension of law and constitution as in West Virginia, they never can be useful as a real national defense reserve, Senator Borah declared yesterday in a vigorous speech.

In West Virginia, he said, the guards, when public sentiment was against them, were frequently made inefficient purposely and governors, for political reasons, had even disbanded them.

TOO LITTLE SHE SAYS

CHICAGO, April 5.—Mrs. Jean W. Butler, friend of Mrs. E. B. Bishop, society woman, who says 33 cents will get three square meals, has broken relations with Mrs. Bishop. “It can't be done,” says Mrs. Butler.

SAYS U. S. SHOULD MAKE ITS NITROGEN

Senator A. J. Gronna, United States senator from North Dakota, says the government should immediately establish a plant for the extraction of nitrogen from the air. Nitrogen is absolutely necessary for the manufacture of powder, and the only nitrate beds in the world are in Chile.

Dry Cleaning Is Play For Women

Put gasoline and solvite in a wash boiler and save $5 in an hour.

Ever dry clean at home? Well, it's so easy, inexpensive and the results so pleasing you'll be surprised. Any woman can clean and renew the brightness of ribbons, silks, satins, laces, yokes, silk shirtwaists, kid gloves and shoes, furs, neckties, children's coats, suits, caps, swiss, lawn, organdy and chiffon dresses, fancy vests, veils, woolen garments, network, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline where it quickly dissolves. Then put it in the goods to be cleaned, rub a little and out they come looking as bright and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing.

Any woman can do five dollars' worth of home dry cleaning in a few moments and you can't make a mistake. Your grocer or any garage will supply the gasoline and the drug store will sell you two ounces of solvite which is simply a gasoline soap. Then a wash boiler or large dish pan completes your dry-cleaning outfit. As gasoline is very inflammable, be sure to do your dry cleaning out of doors or in a room away from fire or flame, with the windows left open.

General Election Bulletins

Rebuke to Thompson CHICAGO, April 5.—Dr. Theodore Sachs, head of the Chicago Tuberculosis sanitarium, killed himself Sunday after attacks on him by the administration. The democrats gained three aldermen and elected their candidate for municipal judge, Leo J. Doyle. It was a rebuke to Mayor Thompson.

Only 138,000 women voted, a decrease of 100,000 under the last aldermanic election.

Schmidt is Defeated

MANITOWOC, Wis., April 5.—By a vote of almost two to one, Judge Michael Kirwin, of the Fourth judicial district, has been re-elected over Municipal Judge Albert H. Schmidt of this city.

DETROIT, Mich., April 5.—In the fight between Senator William Aldrich Smith and Henry Ford for the honor of Michigan republicans “favorite son,” the latest available figures showed this vote: Ford, 43,001; Smith, 41,878; Simpson, 3,090.

Friends of Senator Smith were confident because the lead of more than 5,000 votes given to Ford in Wayne county (Detroit) has been gradually cut down.

ITALIAN WAR HEADS LEAVE THE CABINET

ROME, April 5.—Minister of War General Zupelli and Under Secretary of War General Elia have resigned. It was officially announced today. General Morone has become minister of war and General Alfieri will succeed General Elia.

WOULD-BE VOTERS DROWN

NEW YORK, April 5.—The jewels worth $7,000 “stolen” from Mrs. Russell Colgate, were found Tuesday at a laundry. They had been tied in a pillow-case and nobody told the maid.

In Treating Tuberculosis

It should be remembered that one of the aids to relief is found in abundance of fresh air—day and night—the largest possible freedom from overexertion and well-cooked, pure food.

Attention to these should do much toward arresting the progress of the malady, but in many cases there is need for extra help. Where Nature has to work with a weakened body her power is limited. Before she can do her most, there must be a return to normality of functions.

Under such circumstances, try Eckman's Alternative, which has been used with large benefit by many sufferers from tuberculosis. In numerous cases it has helped to bring about recovery.

And since it contains no opiate narcotics or habit-forming drugs, its use is not attended with danger. Sold by Geo. E. Mariner, Chas. E. B. Eyschlag and leading druggists. Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia.

TORPEDO FURTHER FIRES EXCITEMENT OF DUTCH NATION

THE HAGUE, April 5.—Torpedoing of the Dutch schooner Eleina Helena while Holland is in the grip of a big war scare, caused great excitement here today.

News of the sinking of the schooner in the North sea reached here early today. A message to her owners said there was no doubt that she had been attacked by a submarine.

The government at once ordered an official inquiry. The probe was opened by naval officers at Rotterdam upon the arrival of the schooner's crew there today. The government at the same time ordered an official investigation of the sinking of the Dutch liner Tubantia, the previous inquiries having been conducted by the vessel's owners.

The tension increased today when the general committee of the lower chamber met in secret session.

Committee Retient Following the meeting of the general committee, it was only stated that recent military activities must be construed only as precautionary measures and that the government has no intention of plunging Holland into war.

Nevertheless, officials said, certain information reaching the government makes it appear positive that Holland may be drawn into the war against her will.

Newspapers Disagree

Newspapers disagree as to whether military activity was occasioned by fear that Germany is about to violate Holland's neutrality, or to resist an attempt by England to land in Holland an army for the invasion of Germany.

FOUR SHIPS SUNK OF WHICH THREE WERE NEUTRALS

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Confirmation of press dispatches saying four Americans were aboard the torpedoed British steamer Berwind reached the state department today, in a message from the United States consul at Cork.

LONDON, April 5.—Four more vessels, three of them neutral ships, have been sunk in the past twenty-four hours with the loss of one life. The British steamer Bendow from Liverpool was sunk with the loss of one life.

The Spanish steamer Vigo was torpedoed in the Bay of Biscay, after the crew had been allowed to take to the boats. The Spanish sailors were picked up by a British steamer twenty-four hours later and taken into Gibraltar.

The Norwegian steamer Arena was sunk in the Cattegat. Her crew was saved.

The Dutch liner Elzina Helena was torpedoed in the North sea. The crew was landed at Noordhinder.

MORE AUTO TRUCKS ORDERED AT REQUEST OF GENERAL FUNSTON

WASHINGTON, April 5.—To meet the serious shortage of transportation facilities in Mexico, Secretary of War Baker today ordered, at General Funston's request, four additional companies of automobile trucks—108 in all—and two tank trucks for carrying gasoline.

This was believed to indicate the administration's probable solution of the entire transportation difficulty brought about by inability to make immediate use of the Mexican Northwestern railway.

It was suggested at the war department today that the poor physical condition of the line may make reliance on motor vehicles necessary in any event. The department had reports of breaks at several points.

MRS. LARSON DIES AT AGE OF SEVENTY

Mrs. Antonette B. Larson, aged 70, for many years a resident of Onalaska, died at 2:30 this morning at the home of her son-in-law, Arthur Mathewson, 702 South Fifth street. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Mathewson. Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon from the home, and at 2:30 from the Norwegian Lutheran church at Onalaska. Interment will be made in the Onalaska cemetery.

To Cover Scratches.

To cover scratches on furniture and at the same time to collect all dust, rub with a soft cloth which has been well moistened with the following mixture. Equal parts of cider vinegar, turpentine and linseed oil. Put the three in a bottle, shake well, and it is ready for use. It may be kept for any length of time. This is fine to use on varnished floors; it keeps them glossy and preserves the varnish.

Words That Live.

It was Baxter, chaplain in Oliver Cromwell's army, author of “The Saints' Rest” and other books, who dug up from an obscure seventeenth-century writer, Rupertus Meldinius, and made current coin these golden words: “In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty; and in both, charity.”

Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

For 25 cents you can save your hair. In less than ten minutes you can double its beauty. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

TWO LYNCHINGS IN THE SOUTH TODAY

KINSTON, N. C., April 5.—A mob from Greene county broke into the Lenoir county jail here today, dragged out Joseph Black, Negro, and lynched him. The mob charged he furnished the shotgun with which his son Will Black seriously wounded one of the men attempting to arrest him for an assault on a six-year-old girl.

ST. CHARLES, Mo., April 5.—Lacey Chandler, Negro, who shot Sheriff Dierker here last night, was captured this afternoon and burned to death.

SUSPECTS INCENDIARISM

MADISON, Wis., April 5.—The state fire marshal has begun investigation of the cause of the $35,000 fire which destroyed one business block here early Monday morning, on the theory that incendiarism may be responsible.

FIERCE ASSAULTS ON VERDUN

Troops Hurlled Against Fortifications Seeking to Find Opening for Complete Offensive

BERLIN, April 5.—French troops have reoccupied a fortified mill northeast of Haumont, on the west bank of the Meuse, the war office admitted this afternoon. French attacks on the east bank of the Meuse in Caillette wood, broke down with heavy losses for the enemy. "Artillery engagements in the Verdun and Argonne districts continue with undiminished vigor," said the official statement. "The situation generally is unchanged."

"German troops in Lorraine and on the Alsatian front carried out several successful patrol enterprises. On the east front, Russian artillery increased its fire near Narocz and Viskniew lakes."

BY WILBUR S. FORREST

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, April 5.—On land, sea and in the air, the Germans are now striking with attacks of unparalleled fierceness, presumably to offset in the minds of neutrals and their own people, the results of the Paris conference of the allies.

Four Zeppelin attacks in as many days, torpedoings averaging four daily and mighty hammerings at the gates of Verdun bear evidence that the Kaiser has ordered a great demonstration of his military and naval strength. The three phases of the Teutonic renewed offensive opened simultaneously with the closing of the allied ring of steel around the central empires.

The Berlin papers now emphasize the fact that the new Zeppelin raids mean the beginning of the most active warfare on England demanded by the main committee of the reichstag. Count von Reventlow makes this point in the Tages-Zeitung, and urges that the Zeppelin raids make every night one of terror for Londoners.

Fighting is Fierce

On the Verdun front the fighting is rapidly approaching a climax. The Germans are hurling successive waves of troops against French defenses on both sides of the Meuse. At the first indication of a weakening in the French lines, the grand assault of the German armies may begin.

In yesterday's violent battle south of Douaumont fort, the Germans not only were repulsed to their trenches but were driven back to their second lines, Paris reported today. The French smothered the attack with sheets of machine gun-fire and slaughtered the retreating Germans with shrapnel hail.

Claim Attempts Repulsed

The attack yesterday, though developing around Caillette woods, was launched from another direction than assaults made by the Germans in the same region a few days ago. Having failed to take the woods from the northeast the Germans rushed down from the northwest from the region of Ablain, only to be thrown back into Chaufour woods.

The repulse of every German attack in this region further confirms the belief here in the impregnability of the French defenses northeast of Verdun. The next great German blow is expected to fall against Bethincourt and positions northwest of Verdun.

Claim Gain in Caillette Woods

PARIS, April 5.—French troops have made further gains in trench fighting in the Caillette woods, south of Douaumont, the war office reported this afternoon.

A squadron of French aeroplanes engaged in a great air raid on the stations of Nantillois and Damvillers.

Three Planes Brought Down

In fifteen other air engagements along the Verdun front, a German plane was brought down near Nant Fourneaux and another near Milly and a third German aircraft fell within its own lines.

Excepting the French gains south of Douaumont and intense bombardment on the Moulinville-Chatillon sector, there was no important activity on the Verdun front. West of the Meuse the night was calm. Near Chatillo the Germans threw twenty-two mines against French barriers, all exploding without damage.

In Lorraine the Germans launched several attacks against the sector between Arracourt and Saint Martin after a violent bombardment. The onslaughts were all repulsed.

One of the biggest farm real estate deals reported in some time here, was a transfer of Adams Valley land, in the town of Burns, to Harry Meinling. Mathew Knutson was the grantor. NEW YORK, April 5.—The "K. Adams" telegram received by Percy Peck in Grand Rapids which started the investigation resulting in the indictment of Dr. Arthur Warren Waite for the murder of John E. Peck was sent by a friend of the Waite family and not a blackmailer. The announcement was made Tuesday by the district attorney.

The district attorney also announced that he had discovered the $1,200 missing from the $3,000 bribe of Waite to Eugene Oliver Kane, the embalmer. He refused to go into details.

HOW SAN MARINO DRAWS STRAYSTO ELECT PRESIDENT

REPUBLIC OF SAN MARINO, April 5.—San Marino, the smallest republic in the world and the oldest independent state in Europe, held its semi-annual election Saturday in about the same way that they raffle off a turkey in America.

The United States uses eight months of fervid campaign oratory to elect a single president. Saturday San Marino elected two in eight hours. Twelve centuries of experience have convinced the 11,000 inhabitants of the Lilliputian republic that they can get as good a president by drawing lots as they can via the convention system of obtaining nominees.

The grand council met Saturday and selected twelve presidential electors by drawing names at random from a box. The twelve electors afterward nominated six nobles and six civilians. From this list the grand council chose three nobles and three civilians, the actual candidates.

Following a torchlight procession Saturday night, all the people who could crowd into the cathedral witnessed the "election." A solemn religious function was first celebrated. Then a blind-folded child drew two printed slips from the six held by the priest. The men whose names were on these two slips are the presidents, or "regent captains."

The successful candidates cannot refuse the jobs. If they do they are fined $100 and suffer other penalties.

MANY ZEPPELIN ATTACKS DRIVEN OFF HE CLAIMS

LONDON, April 5.—More than one recent Zeppelin attack on England has been repulsed, without the public's knowledge of the airships' approach, Under-Secretary of War Tennant declared in commons yesterday.

Tennant made this statement while informing commons that the new arrangements for the air defense of London had proven satisfactory. He mentioned also the bringing down of the L-15 in the Friday night raid on England.

The statement confirmed recent reports that on at least three occasions in the past month, Zeppelins attempted to reach the English coast but were driven off.

AMERICAN SOLDIER GETS FIRST REAL TEST SINCE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR

BY H. D. JACOBS
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

FIELD HEADQUARTERS AMERICAN EXPEDITION NEAR DUBLAN, Mexico, via mail to Columbus, N. M., April 4.—The American soldier is undergoing his first real test since the Spanish-American war. And he is making good.

Subjected to long, hard hikes through a rough and practically waterless country he has stood up under it creditably and what is more, has preserved his morale. Although his days and nights are taken up by regular and special duties, he still finds time for his base ball, card games, yarning and singing.

The only thing that interferes with his positive enjoyment of the expeditionary movement is his inability to come in contact with Villa or some of his men. Every one of the thousands of Uncle Sam's soldiers now in Mexico, has his private ambition to be the man who captures or "pots" the bandit chief. It isn't because any of them expect to realize any concrete gain thereby, but because that is the main object of the expedition, and because its accomplishment is regarded as one of the hardest problems that ever faced an American military force.

Field headquarters is now a veritable city. It has its streets, "wards", post office, police, hospital, sanitary squad, stores, municipal government and all. And this village can be torn down in a comparatively few minutes, transported several miles across an arid country and set up again—all within a day.

Transportation Problem Solved

The problem of transportation has been practically solved by the scores of powerful motor trucks now in service between field headquarters and the border. Loaded with thousands of pounds of munitions and supplies, they make the trip over rough roads in less than twenty-four hours. But the old-fashioned army wagon, and the still more old-fashioned army mule, still have their usage and hundreds are formed in wagon trains which accompany each regiment. The mules stood the heat, dust and rough going in excellent shape, as did the horses. The headquarters escort made the entire trip to this base without losing a single animal. The troops which preceded headquarters lost several mules and a few horses, but not as many as was expected.

The advance detachments of cavalry have penetrated so far to the south and southeast that their communication with base has brought into use the aeroplane. These machines, which are receiving and standing up to the hardest test ever given a United States army machine, make the flight in a few hours. They also are being used to carry important dispatches to the border.

Motorcycles also are superseding the horse for dispatch bearing. The field wireless is in use, but bad weather conditions and the high mountains combine against its use.

Under order of General Pershing, no camps have been made close to any Mexican towns during the march and no one is permitted to visit any of the towns without special permission. Consequently, the soldiers have indulged in no "sight seeing" but many of them obtained permission to barter with the natives for chickens, eggs, preserves, and other additions to the regulation "chow."

The officers aren't maintaining any false optimism regarding the job they have on hand and many believe it will be months before Villa is taken—if ever.

FLOUR TRAIN IS WRECKED; DOUGH BLOCKS RAILROAD

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 5.—Blocked by a mountain of dough, Pennsylvania railroad trains were held up for hours on the famous Horseshoe curve. The trackmen and train crews worked in vain to remove the sticky mass, which swelled and stuck harder every minute. A train loaded with flour was wrecked and the weather did the rest.

This is supposed to be an age of intellectual attainment, yet there are people who still believe that saucers were made to drink out of.

HOW TO PROLONG LIFE

By adopting a simple diet men like Conaro have lived to be 100 years of age, but with our complex diets of today, the vitality of the aged is taxed to its utmost endurance. A simple diet, therefore, is conducive to a long life, and if the vitality becomes impaired and weakness seems apparent, our local druggists, Hoeschler Bros., have in Vinol a reliable, non-secret remedy which contains just the elements needed to restore strength to weak, feeble old people, and prolong a healthy, happy life.

THE IMPOSSIBLE GIRL

BY IZOLA FORRESTER

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

"I don't see how on earth you can wedge another one in here. We're packed like sardines, now."

Claire gave her skirts a little shake to fill in every last available inch of space on the back seat of the coach.

"Oh, nonsense," laughed Lewis. "Here, Miss Rickard, just swing up

AVOID SPRING ILLS

Purify and Build Up the Blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

In the spring your blood needs cleansing and enriching. You feel poorly, and there is more or less eruption on your face and body. Your appetite is not good, your sleep is broken, and you are tired all the time.

You need Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the one safe and effective tonic that has stood the test of forty years. It makes the pure red blood that will make you feel better, look better, eat and sleep better. It is the old standard tried and true all-the-year-round medicine for the blood and the whole system.

Ask any druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla, and insist on having it. Nothing else acts like it, for nothing else has the same formula or ingredients, and so there is no real substitute. Get it today.

beside me. There's room for you between Ben and me."

Old Ben made room for her gracefully, and picked up his reins, whip in one hand, waiting the starter's signal in front of the Mountain View hotel. "Gwen was to sit here, Lewis," complained Claire anxiously. "Where is Gwen?"

"Gwen wants to ride inside," replied Lewis quietly. "Everybody ready? We're off!"

The four horses took the mountain road freshly. It was a keen spring morning. The long ranks of distant peaks were circled in royal robes of violet and rose, shot with gold as they wound higher and higher into the skylands out of view.

"Do you know her—Miss Rickard?" asked the girl next to Claire. "I know she's perfectly impossible," returned Claire, with the frankness of sixteen. "Lewis never stops for anything. She wanted to go at the very last minute, and he took her. Wonder what Gwen thinks? She's been dropping poor old Lewis over the edge of emotional chasms for days, and it serves her right! They're just as good as engaged, and she's been absolutely hypnotized by Wayne Ivesson. I don't like him. Mother can't bear him either. He's the kind of person you know whether you trust or not inside of two minutes after you first meet him."

Inside the coach Gwen Arnold sat with Ivesson. Somehow at the very last minute, he had managed to swing to the seat beside her, after standing watching each person as they all took their places on the coach. Most of them he knew as acquaintances. For five weeks he had been a guest at the hotel, a slender scholarly looking youngster, who spent most of his time reading on the broad verandas or riding the mountain paths. He had met Gwen out alone several times after their first introduction, and had joined her. Lewis had disliked him from the first, but Gwen was in a rebellious mood after a disagreement with Lewis and rather approved of him.

"It is wonderful to have you all to myself," he said as the coach swung down into the first gully. "You call this alone?" laughed Gwen teasingly, wondering who the girl was up on the box. "Who is she?" asked Ivesson, almost as if he had caught her thought. She was not a guest at the hotel, and seemed more like a mountain type. "Lewis knows her. Odd, isn't it?"

"Lewis has lived up here for three years," she answered, resenting the tone. "Why shouldn't he know her? When we're not here, he lives at his ranch, you know."

"And some day you will be here too?" His eyes held so much unspoken intent that Gwen glanced up at the other inside passengers to avoid their earnestness. After all, even if they did quarrel, there was only Lewis of course.

"Ever heard this trip was dangerous?"

IF YOU WORRY, READ THIS

Worry never brought any good to anybody. But, you say, "I don't worry because I want to. I worry because I can't help it." Or, "I worry because I have so much to worry about."

We all have our troubles and worry, of course, makes matters worse. The patient generally recognizes this fact without being able to profit by it. The doctor who could meet this nervous condition and cure it would be the most popular medical man alive. But he cannot do it because the form of nervous exhaustion known as neurasthenia, of which worry is a characteristic symptom, must be cured by the patient himself. That is why you should write today for the book "Diseases of the Nervous System" and read the chapter on "Neurasthenia." So many people have read it and written back, "This hits my case exactly. I am giving the treatment a trial and being benefited," that the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. has had a lot of these books printed and will send you a copy free on request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a non-alcoholic tonic, particularly suited for nervous, neurotic people. Your druggist sells them or they will be mailed postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.

ous?" piped up an old gentleman in the corner who had been sunning himself for days in the mountain air and splendor. "Used to be ten years ago. Almost sure to find a bandit somewhere along between the gulches after you pass Twin peaks."

"Really?" Gwen leaned forward eagerly. "I do hope not. Mother's up on top with Claire and the other girls, chaperoning their party. I suppose I need a bit more than they. She's never a bit uneasy, you know, and if anything should happen—"

"What could happen?" asked Wayne. "Your eyes are like the dark brown of moth's wings—do you know it?"

"I haven't carried a gun in years," went on the old gentleman cheerfully, "but I've got one along today. That boy on the box is carrying money over to the Cuddyhoe outfit to pay off the men their quarterly wages. Got it from the express office. And it's some risk to get it through even today."

"Who has it—the driver or—or Mr. Stevens?" asked Gwen.

"Stevens. He's a friend of the superintendent down here and the foreman over there. Haven't got any valuables along, have you?"

Wayne laughed and took out his watch and purse.

"Shall we take an inventory to help along the highwayman when we meet him?" he asked. "Let us give everything to Miss Crandall, and no one would ever be brave enough to hold her up."

Up on the box, Lewis and his two companions watched the gulch as it dipped and widened, narrowed up again and plunged ahead, a gash in the heart of the mountain. When the coach swung down into the Devil's Kettle, it seemed to rock alarmingly, and stopped with a jerk that sent the horses almost on their haunches.

Inside the coach, the people started to rise, but found themselves neatly covered by a revolver held by Wayne Ivesson. His face, usually rather pale, was flushed and his eyes were keen.

"Stay where you are, all of you," he commanded. "Miss Crandall, may

I trouble you for the handbag, please?"

Everything of value had been obligingly slipped into Gwen's brown seal handbag, and she hesitated, her eyes flashing into his. Outside, an older man on horseback stood with leveled rifle by the coach.

"Hands up, all of you," he called. "Come on, kid. It's all right."

And Wayne slipped down from the coach, but stopped, for the old gentleman held a revolver at his head. "Got you this trip," he said pleasantly. "Sit still, ladies. All right, Lewis!"

Lewis suddenly felt the touch of steel in his hand. Old Ben had somehow crumpled down at the bandit's first warning shot, but the girl was in his place, holding the reins. At the voice from the rear of the coach,

Today And A Generation Hence

The flight of time makes us think of the future. The baby of today reflects what greatness may be acquired when he grows up. And any influence that brings relief to the expectant mother is the first and greatest of obligations. There is a splendid remedy known as "Mother's Friend" that has been a safeguard, a helpful daily influence, to a host of women. Applied externally to the muscles, they become pliant, they stretch without undue pain, there is an absence of distress, the nerves are soothed by taking away the burden of leaving all to just natural conditions.

There is in "Mother's Friend" the direct and immediate help that all expectant mothers require. Used by their own hand, guided by their own minds, they learn at once the blessed relief from morning sickness resulting from undue stretching. They experience daily calm and nightly rest. It is indeed "Mother's Friend." Get a bottle today of any druggist. Then write Bradford Regulator Co., 410 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for one of the most entertaining and valuable little books ever presented. It is worth writing for.

the man on horseback wheeled his horse, and started on a headlong gallop down the gulch road, but Lewis fired after him, bringing the horse to his knees, and he lay motionless with his rider under him.

It had all happened so suddenly that the girls and women had watched the scene in silent horror. Claire was first to note the surprising change in the girl on the box. Her hat was off. She was short-haired and boyish, and was on the ground laughing and talking while Wayne was bound hand and foot.

Gwen waited, white faced and troubled. Finally Lewis came to her side and she laid her hand impulsively on his coat sleeve—such a little motion, but it betrayed to him all of her thoughts. He laid one hand over it closely.

"Well, girlie, I'm sorry you ran into this. We've been expecting it for months, every time the coach was loaded with any cash, but I hardly thought our good friend Ivesson was a pal of old Cuddyhoe Bill. We're going to leave some of the men to guard him while I take you all back to the hotel. You see, expecting trouble, we came prepared. There were two of the sheriff's men with me, Baker on the inside, and the old man, and Young Carter outside with me, dressed as the girl. Were you jealous, dear?"

"Oh, Lewis, I don't want to live way out here where such things happen," she said anxiously. "Not—not afterward, I mean."

She shuddered and drew nearer to him. They were taking Ivesson down the road now to where the horse and rider lay. Once he looked back at her. There was only amusement and a certain challenge in his glance. She turned to the big, genial chap beside her restfully.

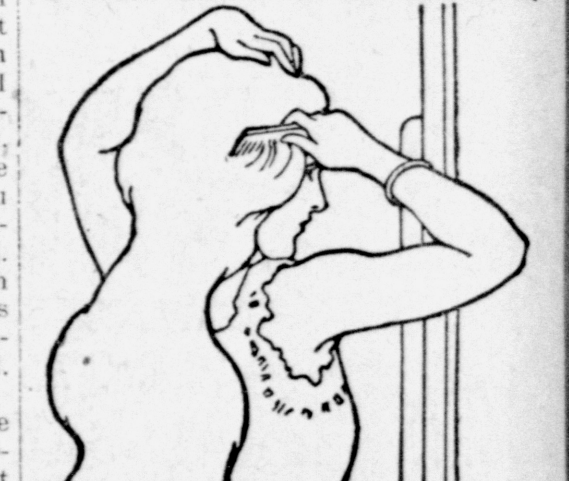

"I don't care where you have to live, I'll stay there, too. And, oh, I'm glad you're you, Lewis—somebody really human and right, don't you know?"

American films are more popular than ever in the Leeds (England) motion picture theaters, especially the "comedy" pictures.

RIVALS GAIN GOOD LEAD IN WIN OVER RAMBLERS PLAYERS

Leaders Stand Good Show
of Winning Flag in City Indoor League by Beating Runnersup

Standings	W.	L.	Pct.
Rivals	18	3	.857
Ramblers	16	6	.727
Indians	13	9	.591
Centrals	11	11	.500

Defeating the Ramblers 7 to 5,
the Rivals of the City Indoor Baseball league gained a lead, which, it is thought, will carry them to the flag in the league. The game was played Monday night at Kabat's hall.

The Ramblers staked everything on that one game. A victory would have placed them but half a game behind the leaders. They are now two and one-half games in the rear with but few more games to play.
Konetchy, hurling for the Rivals, had a slight edge over Eddy of the Ramblers.

The Indians, by an 11-7 score, last night took a comfortable lead over the Centrals. Had they lost the teams would have been tied for the cellar.
The Ramblers and Indians play tomorrow; the Centrals and Rivals Friday.

team from the Malloy alleys last night cost the Nelsons their league match with the Studebakers. Roth and Paulson rolled their games, hoping their teammates would show up.
The Studebakers rolled 913 in the last game, but Paulson scored 230 and Roth 188. They saw a chance to take three games.

SCHWEHE WINS AND IS PRACTICALLY CLASS B CHAMP

Schewe is proclaimed a champion of Class B of the Y. M. C. A. handicap billiard tournament. The tournament is not over, but Schewe, playing his last game last night, defeated Puckett, playing 50, 55 to 46. As both men were tied at eleven games won and three lost, and as but two other men, Horner and Goff, had lost but three games, Schewe it is not thought possible, will again be challenged. Horner and Goff have several games to play on their schedule.

WIFE IS SICK AND JESS DON'T CARE A SNAP FOR THE $9,000

CHICAGO, April 5.—Jess Willard was deluged today with a flock of offers totaling $9,000, just for his appearance, either as a referee or on actor. The big fellow turned them all down. "The wife's sick and I want to stay home for a while, anyhow," said Jess.

Tom Ryan of Toronto offered Willard $1,500 to referee a fight.
Charlie Murray of Buffalo and Walter Duffy of Boston went over that figure, just to have the champion show himself for half an hour for exhibition purposes. Toledo also made a fat offer.

Lou Derlicher of New York wired an offer of $2,000. He wanted Willard to referee a fight in Gotham.
Tom Jones and Jess plan a trip to Hot Springs, Ark., probably this week.

COAST LEAGUE IS FIRST TO START

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—The Pacific coast league, the first circuit in the country to "play ball", opened yesterday afternoon with a bang.
Parades in all the cities with a local celebrity pitching the first ball, inaugurated what is predicted will be the most successful year in the organization's history.

Mayor Rolph pitched out a golden ball in the opening exercises of the game with Portland here.

The president of the Ladies' Literary society threw the first ball at Salt Lake, playing with Oakland.

President Allen T. Baum of the league attended the Vernon game at Los Angeles, where Mayor Sebastian tossed out the opening ball.

THOMPSON PLACES WITH PHILLIP IN IN VIROQUA VOTE

VIROQUA, Wis., April 5.—(Spec-

Cook led with 162 votes, the vote of the other three high men being as follows: Phillip 150; Baensch, 150;
Thompson, 125.

In the district delegate contest,
Andrew Dahl led with 148 votes, and Knutson, Phillip candidate, was given 118. Stone, Dahl's running-mate, had 114 and Hanson 100 votes.

Virolqua gave Judge Turner a majority, casting 138 votes for him against 134 for Belden, the next highest in the judicial election.
Virolqua went dry by 116 majority.

BLAIR, Wis., April 5.—(Special).

sult being 34 to 31. Gibson forces also failed to defeat E. S. Immel for trustee, who has held the office for 15 years.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush your Kidneys occasionally if you eat meat regularly.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally.
says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.
